ALLIES REACH AGREEMENT

French Premier Announces He and Lloyd George Are In Accord.

SILESIAN ISSUE

Experts Drawing Boundary Lines. Germany and Poland Expected To Accept Settlement.

Paris, Aug. 10.—M. Briand, the French Premier, announced to the Supreme Council this afternoon that the British Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, and he were in an agreement in principle upon the Upper Silesian boundary, and that it remained for the experts to draw the exact line, which would be on a basis of giving equal value to the votes cast in the recent plebiscite, whether Polish or German and whether in mining, industrial or rural townships.

"If one examine the result of the plebiscite in a general way," said M. Briand, indicating broadly the principle the experts must follow, "there is no doubt that the German mass is in the west and the Polish mass in the east of Upper Silesia. Thus, geographically speaking, the solution is easy to be seen and even obligatory."

The members of all the delegations feel a sense of relief tonight that the thorny entanglement which has been threatening to wreck the peace of Europe has been solved by the spirit of mutual conciliation and good will which the French and British Premiers displayed in their private meetings on Sunday and Monday nights.

The belief is held here that Poland and Germany will accept the settlement, although grumolingly, and that if disorders should break out they will be suppressed by the Allies.

In the meantime the Council decided not to send Allied reinforcements to Upper Silesia. France had desired to dispatch additional troops to that territory, but when the question came before the Council the British and Italian delegates voted against it, General Lerond, head of the Interallied Commission in Upper Silesia, had urged reinforcements as a precautionary measure.

The experts and Allied high commissioners met before the afternoon session of the Council began to lay down the new boundary line under

A BUSY PLACE

Day's Activities At Queen Street Playgrounds

Kindergarten work for the little ones begins at 10 o'clock each day, lasting from one to two hours This mans drawing and coloring drawings, mat weaving, folding paper, cutting paper, stringing beads and learning to count them, sewing cards and cutting paper toys and pasting them into shape, etc.

There is a story telling period twice a day, morning and afternoon, when the children gather in the shade of the trees to listen to the magic words, once upon a time, a prelude to wonderland. This is one of the most valuable periods of the day, encouraging the imagination through the pictures of the classics sketched by words. Young men and girls engage in tennis, basketball, schlog ball, volley ball, and the younger ones have minor sports, catch ball, dodge ball, etc.

In the afternoon matches are put on six boys against six girls—volley ball and ring games and singing games and folk dances are taught.

The young men from the Dreadnaught's Club come to enjoy the sports and are most helpful in doing anything they can to assist Miss Howard, who always welcomes them and appreciates their co-operation.

Every Wednesday morning from 10 to 12, Mrs. Jones conducts a sewing class through the courtesy of Mrs. Bradley, Mr. Swan and Mr. Woolf. A number of sewing materials have been donated which is very gratifying, and enables a continuance of the work. Mrs. Jones has offered a prize of a silver thimble engraved with initials of the girl who shows the most progress in her sewing during the summer.

(Lynchburg.—With a large number of residents of the Campbell county suburbs asking for annexation, the City Council has informally decided that the city will take no steps until the Hicks bill, which became a law at the last meeting of the State Legislature is repealed. The law, it is claimed, makes annexation practically impossible, because of financial burdens it places upon the city.

The visitors were welcomed by Exalted Ruler Randolph S. Perry and Judge R. T. W. Duke. Response was made by James V. Parker, of Portsmouth, president of the association. Finally, his son, a mere boy, realizing his father was suffering from cramps and unable to help himself, plunged in, but of no avail. Byron Saum and Harry Clayton, however, grabbed Windle as he was sinking for the third time dragged him to the bank and by means of artificial respiration revived him.

After the pinochle game in the smoker Levy retired to his berth and tucked the brief under his pillows. He says it was gone when he awakened. GOV. SMALL GIVES BAIL

Illinois Executive Submits To Face Embezzlement Charges.

APPEARS WORRIED

Big Crowd Watches Official Escort His Prisoner To Court House. Gives $50,000 Bond.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10.—Gov. Len. Small was placed under arrest by Sheriff Henry Mester, of Sangamon county, at the Executive Mansion shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Despite his protests and those of his attorney, George B. Gillespie, he was forced to accompany the Sheriff to the court house, where he furnished bonds of $50,000 as surety for his appearance before Judge Elbert S. Smith, in the Sangamon County court, on the first Monday in September to answer to three indictments charging him with embezzling half a million dollars of State funds, conspiring to defraud the State of $2,000,000 of the taxpayers' money and embezzling, jointly with Lieut.-Gov. Fred E. Sterling and Vernon Curtis, $700,000 of interest on public funds.

From noon until 3:30 o'clock Sheriff Mester and a force of deputy sheriffs besieged the State House. At that time Governor Small requested the Sheriff to come to his office and invited Sheriff Mester to arrest him. Sehriff to come to his office and inbeen advised by his attorneys not to take the Governor into custody while he was in the actual performance of his official duties. Governor Small then informed the Sheriff he would be at the Executive Mansion at 5 o'clock.

Sheriff Mester, accompanied by his chief deputy, Ora Lemmon, drove up to the mansion at 5:05. Both were conducted to the library, where the Governor and Attorney Gillespie were waiting.

"Governor," said Sheriff Mester, "I am here with the warrants."

The Sheriff proceeded to read all three warrants. When he had finished he said simply:

"Governor, you are under arrest."

"Very well," replied Governor Small. "What shall I do?"

"You must go to the court house with me and give a bond."

There was no smile on the Governo's face as he walked to the Sheriff's car. The court house was reached at 5:20. A large crowd already had gathered both inside and outside. So tightly were they wedged in the Sheriff's outer office that deputies had to force their way through and stand guard at the gate to prevent them from jamming into the Sheriff's private office.

Governor Small presented the Sheriff with a signed copy of the opinion which he had read to him yesterday, holding that under the Constitution a Governor is immune from arrest while in office. There was considerable argument over the bonds After a discussion, during which State's Attorney Mortimer insisted that the form of the bond prepared by the Governor's counsel be slightly changed, the bond was signed and accepted and Governor Small hurriedly left.

Prohibition Brings the Milk-Fed Pumpkin.

York, Pa., Aug. 10.—Milk-fed pumpkins are the latest products of modern farming in this section, it is said, for farmers are feeding milk into the pumpkins through the hollow stem, which makes the pumpkin big and luscious.

The plan is to select a well developed pumpkin, then remove all the others from that particular vine, cut off a leaf nearest the pumpkin, which leaves a hollow stem, and feed milk of good quality through this stem from time to time as long as desired.

It is an expensive process, but it is said it produces a "whooper" of a pumpkin and one which makes remarkably good pies.

In this section some years ago men treated watermelons in a similar manner with wine or whisky, and the result was a melon which accumulated so much kick that it could scarcely lie still until it was done growing.

As guests of the Rev. Louis Smet, pastor of St. Mary's Church, the Columbian Players of this city will journey tomorrow evening to the Columbus Country Club, located near Arlington Towers. The party will form at the Lyceum Hall, where busses will be on hand to take the party to their destination. The Columbus Country Club is an exceptionally popular club operating under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, and is already well known to scores of Alexandrians. A trip to Benedict, Md., on Sunday, August 21, has been planned by the players themselves. Benedict is famous as a Maryland Seaside resort, providing everything necessary to form a successful seaside outing. A committee of Columbian players, consisting of Messrs. Roland, Bagley and Fannon, made a trip last Sunday to Benedict to complete arrangements and have mapped out features that will make the day's outing especially enjoyable. The Columbian Players are manifesting much interest in the trip, and will have in store for them an outing worth while.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—The fancy silk shirts and sox, and loud, expensive cravats of the war prosperity period are doomed to give way to cotton, lisle and plain knitted goods because men are slashing their clothing bills, haberdashers today told the Board of Review when questioned about their personal property taxes.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 10.—The State Democratic Committee will be called to meet in Richmond the latter part of this month, it was announced last night by Secretary Jacob Brenaman.

The purpose of the meeting is to select a successor to the late Chairman Rorer A. James, of Danville. Several names have been mentioned for the place, but in view of the fact that the members of the committee are scattered all over the State, it has not been possible to interview enough of them to gauge the strength of any of the men suggested for the office.

General W. W. Sale, who managed Senator Trinkle's campaign for the governorship; former Governor Henry C. Stuart, Congressman H. D. Flood and State Senator Harry F. Byrd, Winchester editor, have been mentioned for the chairmanship. Congressman Flood's friends do not believe that he could be induced to accept the office. GIVES PEACE BOND

Rock Hurling Ends In Police Court.

A brick-bat hurled at a crowd of boys on a lot at the head of King street yesterday afternoon resulted in a fight which ended in the police court today and resulted in the youth accused of hurling the brick being placed under a peace bond of $100. The boy who hurled the brick later attacked the lad who was struck knocking out several of his teeth. The parents of both lads became involved in the controversy and a bottle was used on the head of the father of the boy who hurled the brick-bat by a brother of the boy who got struck. The mother of the boy who was struck testified she witnessed the rock hurling from her back window through a field glass. The court saw so many witnesses, most of whom were boys, that only a small number were heard.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Washington, Aug. 10.—The "Drys" of the country both won and lost when the Senate on Monday passed the bill prohibiting physicians from issuing prescriptions calling for beer as medicine. While the anti-beer bill got through, it was not acted upon until after an amendment had been adopted which, should it remain in the bill, would mean the severest jolt that prohibition has yet received.

Under an amendment proposed by Senator Stanley, Democrat, of Kentucky, it would be made a misdemean or, punishable by fine or imprisonment, for government officers to search for liquor without proper warrant.

However, the opinion at the capitol is that the life of this amendment will be short, for the conferees on the beer bill, into whose jurisdiction the measure now passes, already have sharpened their axes to have the amendment revoked. They will be able to do this, it is believed, because the amendment was not adopted by the House. The Senate conferees are all ardent "drys" while but one member of the House conference, Representative Graham, Republican, of Pennsylvania, is classed as "wet."

Under the amendment adopted by the Senate no kind of search for liquor or other contraband goods would be possible without a specific search warrant. Thus, a man walking down King Street with a package which prohibition or police officers confident ly surmised might contain liquor would be immune from search unless the officers had a search warrant. The same condition would apply to automobiles, homes, saloons, restaurants and every place else at which it might be expected to find liquor.

With the acceptance on the part of the Japanese government of November 11 as the date on which the disarmament conference shall begin in Washington, President Harding will take immediate steps to send out the formal invitations to Great Britain, France, Italy and China the other nations who have already signified their willingness that the meeting should be held at the time suggested.

In the meantime, preparations for the forthcoming conference are going forward at high speed at the National Capital. Secretary of State Hughes has delegated to Under Secretary of State Fletcher the task of providing quarters for the large delegations that will come here, of providing a place in which to hold the conference and of making up estimates for the necessary expenses that will be entailed by this government.

While Uncle Sam does not expect to pay the expenses of the delegates while they are in Washington, the program of official entertainments, together with the expenses of the conference itself will probably require the expenditure of at least half a million dollars. It all depends upon the length of the conference.

Royal C. Haynes, U. S. Prohibition Commissioner, has declared war on certain brewers throughout the country who, while ostensibly turning out cereal or dealcoholized beverages, have, in reality, been making real stuff with a "kick" and containing more than one-half of one per cent. alcohol. While the government, heretofore, has been lenient in dealing with such violators of the Volstead Act, in the future, those found guilty will have their properties confiscated and they will be subject to heavy fines and penalties, if not imprisonment.

The lid is being clamped down tight against violators of the "dry" law and the course of the "bootlegger" in the future is going to be fraught with many dangers and inconveniences, not to say loss of money and time spent behind prison walls.

Since his return from his brief vacation in the mountains of New Hampshire, President Harding has been giving a good deal of attention to the issuance of a proclamation, declaring peace with Germany. Attorney General Daugherty, who has been looking up precedents and international law on the subject, is about ready to submit his recommendations to the White House. After the peace proclamation is promulgated then there will follow a treaty of peace with the former domain of the Kaiser.

The allied nations—those who took part in the overthrow of the German autocracy, are watching with the deepest interest for the signing of a formal peace treaty between the United States and the present government of Germany.

Secretary of Labor Davis wants to encourage immigration into this country from New Zealand and Australia. He says the natives of these far off countries are the finest types of citizens. Under the new immigration laws not more than 300 immigrants from both countries can come to the United States within a year. Secretary Davis is going to ask Congress to amend the immigration law so that a minimum of 1,200 aliens can come to our shores from any one country every year in order that New Zealanders and Australians desiring to emigrate from their country may be permitted to find refuge under the American flag.

INDICATED CROP YIELD

According to the Continental and Commercial National Bank, of Chicago, the indicated crop yields of 1921 are fairly encouraging. The country will produce, it is estimated, about 3,000,000,000 bushels of corn; 775,000,000 bushels of wheat; 1175,000,000 bushels of oats; 160,000,000 bushels of barley; 65,000,000 bushels of rye; 370,000,000 bushels of potatoes; 92,000,000 tons of hay; and 8,300,000 bales of cotton. In any calculation on the business outlook of the country, crops, of course, are the primary basis on which to build a sound reckoning. As indicated, the apparent yields of the great staples for this year amply justify the statement that the business activity of the nation is again resuming a healthy and normal aspect. The farmers, who compose the greatest class of consumers, will have a purchasing power that will stimulate production in manufactures, and the influence of which will be felt in the remotest hamlet. The other factors, of prosperity, such as transportation, taxation, tariff, governmental policies foreign and domestic, are being adjusted gradually, and by the time the crops are ready to market, will probably be in actual process of final solution. On the whole, the nation has cause for self-gratulation, and a survey of conditions in Europe and the rest of the world, only serves to accentuate it. Here in Alexandria the signs are most encouraging. The merchants are doing as much or more business than a year ago; our wage-paying industries seem to be in a prosperous condition; and everything points to a thriving year locally. The prospects for the next Dollar Day celebration in the city are unusually bright, and unless we are mistaken many thousands of dollars will find their way into the channels of trade on that auspicious occasion. Alexandria has two conspicuous mottoes which she puts into practice: "Do it Now"; and, "Boost, don't Knock!"

Officer Hospital, on duty on front of the Executive Offices at the White House and who claims he knows something about birds, says he witnessed a battle royal the other day between a humming bird and a huge black butterfly on one of the Acacia trees that adorn the White House grounds. And Hospital swears that the butterfly came out the winner in the contest. He says this is no nature fake story, but an honest-to-goodness happening.

Hospital does not claim that the butterfly killed the humming bird but that he chased the bird away from the tree.

PRESIDENT ALDERMAN DENIES FOREKNOWLEDGE OF REPORTS OF MEDICAL EXPERTS

Charlottesville, Aug. 10.—A vigorous denial of any foreknowledge of the opinions of Dr. Abraham Flexner and Dr. William H. Welch, who rendered reports to the commission on Medical Education favoring the location of the consolidated state medical school at the University, has been made by Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia. in answer to a recent communication of Mr. Eppa Hunton of Richmond.

Dr. Alderman's letter to Mr. Hunton follows:

July 30, 1921.

Hon. Eppa Hunton,
Richmond, Va.

Dear Mr. Hunton:

My attention has been called to your letter to Dr. Hugh H. Young, in which you make the folowing statement "You may not know that Mr. Flexner and Dr. Welch were not invited to appear before the Commission on Medical Education in Virginia until Dr. Alderman had interviewed them and, of course, knew their opinions and the Board invited them as a matter of courtesy and did not call other experts."

I first desire to confirm Dr. Hugh's statement that I had no communication with Dr. Welch whatever. Dr. Welch was invited on the suggestion of Mr. Flexner. I had no intimation what he would say to the Commission.

As to my part in bringing Mr Flexner before the Commission the following is a brief history of the whole matters of educational policy. Later on October 2, during the meeting at the University, the Commission expressed itself as desiring the General Education Board to make a survey with recommendations, in order to aid the Commission in its work. At the meeting of October 2, on motion of Dr. McGuire, the Commission requested me to make special personal efforts to secure action in this matter by the General Education Board. Later on in October by invitation of the Commission I took part in a conference in Richmond between the Commission and Messrs. Butterick and Flexner, and urged them to undertake the desired survey. I was greatly impressed with the earnest desire of the Commission for this desired assistance.

The General Education Board finally decided not to make the survey, on the ground that a body whose interest in medical education was to help it financially was not the body to advise universities or states in matters fo educational policy. Later the Carnegie Foundation likewise was not disposed to assist the Commission. The Commission in January was thus left to work out its own salvation. I felt that the situation was full of danger from the lack of disinterested expert outside advice, so strongly recommended in the message of Governor Davis as necessary to the success of the work entrusted to the Commission.

During the latter part of February, I attended a meeting of the General Education Board in New York and I again endeavored to induce the officers of the Board to reconsider its former action and to undertake the survey which the Commission had requested. I did not make this appeal to Mr. Flexner and Dr. Welch but to the Officers of the General Education Board and the appeal was that they recommend that the General Education Board do what the Commission had unanimously and earnestly asked them to do.

The officers of the Board, however, adhered to their original decision; but said that Mr. Flexner, their chief adviser in matters of medical education, was at liberty to do as he thought in the matter of advising with the Commission in his personal capacity and not as an officer or member of the General Education Board. Mr. Flexner expressed his willingness to do this if invited by the Commission and stated that in case he appeared, he would like to have some other eminent medical educator like Dr. Welch advise with the Commission at the same time.

I therefore simply communicated these facts to Dr. Hough, the Secretary of the Commission. Dr. Hough secured from the Commission the invitation to Mr. Flexner and Dr. Welch I knew nothing further about it.

I certainly felt that in getting these leaders of medical education to advise with the Commission I was doing the next best thing to having the General Education Board itself formally undertake the desired survey. I supposed the advice the Commission so eagerly sought in October would be even more acceptable in March and I thought I was doing the Commission a genuine service in enabling it to obtain what the law expected it to obtain. I had no foreknowledge of what Dr. Flexner's report would be nor did I venture to discuss it with him. My sole purpose was to give the Commission the opportunity to secure what it had eag sought and what it undoubtedly got —expert and disinterested advice of unanswerable lucidity.

Very truly yours.
EDWIN A. ALDERMAN.

MOTION PICTURES IN JAVA, DUTCH EAST INDIES

The motion-picture business in Java appears to be expanding rapidly, according to Consul Jewell, at Batavia. American pictures are increasingly popular; the types best liked are big features, comedy, news, and travel films. No film of less than five reels makes a great success locally. The pictures which attract the native audience are those of the action and adventure type, while the European and American audiences usually prefer well-acted drama of the type most popular in America.

COL. HOUSE ON EUROPEAN WAR LOSSES

Cabling from London in the Philadelphia Ledger, Col. E. M. House says:

To one who lived in the Southern States after the Civil War, those late enemy and defeated countries do not seem to have suffered in like proportion. At least the scars are not visible. While the loss of life and the number of maimed was incomparably greater in this war, the financial wreckage was not more complete, and the recovery will not take as long.

Europe can and will resume an orderly life. Even Russia is indicating some reaction. The convalescence of Europe has begun, but how soon complete recovery comes will depend upon the wisdom and toleration of the leaders, and the willingness of the people to adjust themselves to the new conditions which four years of a bloody and destructive war have brought about.

The Manufacturers Record has said exactly these things many times and we are glad Col. House now so strongly confirms them. The losses in Europe in men ,money and disorganization of labor were not so great relatively as the losses of the South during the Civil War and to these losses were added the eleven years of reconstruction and military dominatio of the South from 1865 to 1876, which wer more disastrous than the war it self. Europe needs to go to work, jr as the South did in 1865, and do less begging than it is now doing.

A wager that he could win a voluntary kiss from a girl within four hours after meeting her is the starting point for all the fun in "A Kiss In Time," the latest Wanda Hawley picture, which comes to the Richmond Theater today for a one day run. T. Roy Barnes plays the role of the dauntless young man who undertakes to win a kiss from the very independent young heroine.

LOU TELLEGEN NO LOAFER, SAYS AGENT FOR NEW PLAY

New York, Aug. 10.—Lou Tellegen has been a hard working man ever since he received his part, early in June, in the new play, "Don Juan," which is to be produced by the Theatre Guild next month, according to Basil Lawrence, business manager for the production. Mr. Lawrence made a statement this afternoon to refute stories printed which called Mr. Tellegen a "loafer" and said he intended to leave the stage.

Lawrence said Miss Farrar was so struck with the play that she agreed to arrange the incidental music and also wanted to help finance the production. When Mr. Tellegen finished a 10 month tour on the road in April he signed a contract to appear in the new play. Since then he has been busy learning a part of 150 pages, Mr. Lawrence said.

When Mr. Lawrence was asked if Miss Farrar's charges that Tellegen had not contributed to the support of their menage were true, he said Tellegen had received no salary while he was rehearsing.

Mr. Tellegen's lawyers said an inventory furnished by him was being used to check the articles Miss Farrar had sent to the storage warehouse.

Unveil Davis Memorial Obelisk On June 3, 1922.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 10.—The Jefferson Davis obelisk, crowning monument to the president of the Southern Confederacy, will be unveiled June 3, 1922, at Davis' birthplace in Fairview, Ky., on his 114th anniversary.

The Davis homestead is about 140 miles from Hodgenville, Ky., where Abraham Lincoln was born.

The obelisk, which will be 175 feet high, is today within five feet of completion. It was planned originally to erect a shaft 350 feet, to be excelled only by the Washington monument, but the Jefferson Davis Home Association decided to hasten the unveiling in accordance with the wish of Confederate veterans. Anxious to participate in the ceremonies, the thinning ranks urged completion as soon as possible. The work was started in 1917 and interrupted by the world war.

Profiles in bronzes of Mr. Davis and his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Davis Hayes, one of the most beautiful women of the South, ornament the base of the monument, which is forty-three feet square. It contains a room for relics.

The shaft is situated in Jefferson Davis Park, which takes in part of the farm on which the president of the Confederacy was born on June 3, 1808, less than a year before Lincoln. The park comprises about 22 acres. The town of Fairview gains its name from one of the most beautiful landscapes in the South.

Cost of the monument to date is about $100,000, which was raised by popular subscription. Mrs. Roy McKinney, of Paducah, Ky., president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, at the head of a committee of daughters and Confederate veterans, organized every county in the State to complete the shaft.

General William B. Haldeman, formerly owner with Colonel Henry Watterson, of Louisville Courier-Journal, is president of the Jefferson Davis Home Association, succeeding the late General Bennett H. Young, Louisville, four times commander-in-chief of the United Confederate veterans. General George W. Littlefield, of Austin, Texas, and General Julian S. Carr, of Durham, N. C., were promoters, with General Young of the original conception.

Care of the monument and park will be supervised by the State of Kentucky after the unveiling, by act of the 1920 Legislature.

Two other monuments commemorate the president, one in Richmond, Va., the capitol of the Confederacy, and the other in New Orleans. Both were built throught efforts of the women of the South.

KINKEAD MURDER LIKE MOVIE REEL TO NURSE

New York, Aug. 10.—The case of Miss Olivia M. P. Stone, Cincinnati nurse, was postponed until Thursday, when she was arraigned today on a charge of shooting and killing Ellis G. Kinkead, former corporation counsel of Cincinnati, in Brooklyn last Friday. Her counsel intimated that her defense probably would be temporary insanity.

"She did not realize what she was doing that night," the lawyer said, "and did not realize what she had done for two days afterward. It seems like a moving picture reel to her. She now realizes the seriousness of her predicament. She continually moans and weeps in her cell and seems to be all broken up."

HE KILLED IN DEFENSE OF HONOR, TREVINO SAYS

Mexic City, Aug. 10.—Gen. Jacinto Trevino calmly admits, according to Excelsiod this afternoon, that it was the defense of his military honor which last night caused him to shoot an dkill Gen. Jose Alessio Robles.

General Trevino, who is being held by the police after his voluntary surrender, declared, according to Excelsiod, that General Robles, holding the rank of ggeneral of a brigade, publicly criticized his superior.

General Trevino is general of a division. He, according ti the newspaper, charges that in addition, General Robles had asserted that he was a coward, having refused to fight a duel. Enmity between the two men was of long standing.

BOY SLAYS GIRL IN PLAYFUL COMBAT

Baltimore, Aug. 10.—She called him "fathead." He struck her with a cane. It happened at a carnival two weeks ago. Yesterday she died of peritonitis at the South Baltimore General Hospital. He is being held at the southern police station pending a coroner's investigation, although no charge has been entered against him.

She was Mary Rulka, eleven years old, 1333 Andre street. He is John Webster, 1456 Reynolds street. Both were playmates.

It was in jest, he told the police, that she had mocked him. It was in playful spirit that he wielded the cane. He did not think he had hurt her, he said, because she made no outcry.

When she returned home, however, the girl, according to her mother, complained of pains in the abdomen. A week ago last Sunday, the mother said, the boy again struck her. A doctor advised her removal to the hospital.

At the hospital it was found that the cane had perforated the peritoneum. She died on the operating table.

CIRCUS ADMITS HOLDER OF 32-YEAR OLD TICKET

Fairmont, W. Va., Aug. 10.—Thirty-two years ago, George W. Hunter purchased a ticket for the John Robinson circus. Last Saturday when the circus visited here he used it.

At first the man at the entrance refused to honor the ticket, but when Hunter explained how he was prevented from attending thirty-two years ago he was given the best reserved seat in the tent.

RETAIL COST OF FOOD UP IN 11 OUT OF 14 CITIES.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Increases in the retail cost of food are shown in 11 out of the 14 cities included in the official tabulations made public today by the Department of Labor. Norfolk, Va., with a decrease of 1 per cent., and Dallas, Texas, with a decline of one-tenth of one per cent., and St. Louis, where prices remained unchanged, were the exceptions.

The figures were made for the period of June 15 to July 15, and show increases of 6 per cent. in Butte, Mon.; 5 per cent. in Cleveland, Ohio, and Portland, Maine; 3 per cent. in Bridgeport, Conn.; 2 per cent. in Houston, Texas, Newark, N. J., New York and Washington; 1 per cent., in Birmingham, Ala., and Charleston, S. C., and two-tenths of one per cent. in Cincinnati, Ohio.

THOSE NAUGHTY DEARS NOW BEHAVING SELVES.

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—Felice and Reginald do not need a curriculum of dress reform and morale.

They're acting like perfect dears. Felice wearing her skirts lower instead of higher, and Reggie chucking baseballs on the field instead of china against chairs.

This is why Mrs. James Large, socially prominent, who is president of the Philadelphia Chapter of Colonial Dames, announces today the organization's dress and morale reform movement has been abandoned.

Simultaneously Mrs. George W. Norris said the Committee on Social Standards, of the Colonial Dames, of which she is chairman, has disbanded, because conditions are approaching normalcy.

"Conditions against which objections were made last spring are righting themselves," said Mrs. Large, "and we decided not to go ahead when it became apparent that the work already done was having a salutary effect."

RICKENBACKER, EX-ACE, FIRST SAW ASTRAL LIGHT

San Jose, Cal., Aug. 10.—An object viewed last night at sunset from Lick Observatory, near here, may or may not be a new star or comet, W. W. Campbell, director of the observatory said today, but he considered the appearance of such importance, that he notified the directors of other observatories to be on the lookout. The view from Lick Observatory was with the naked eye.

If observations prove this to be a new astral body, credit for its discovery probably will bo to Capt. Eddie Riskenbacker, former army airman and American ace, and will be shared by Major Reed Chambers, also a noted army flyer.

Rickenbacker, a guest at the obser vatory, drew the attention of Mr. Campbell and Prof. Henry Morris Russell, director of Princeton University Observatory, to "that bright star over to the left." Chambers said he had been watching it for seevral minutes.

TUESDAY AUG. 10, 1813.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Malta, May 10, 1813.

A horrid conspiracy has been discovered here, to massacre the English garrison, and to declare the island independent under the protection of BONAPARTE. Many persons have been arrested. Some of high character. One has committed suicide.

London, June 18, 1813.

A copy of the armistice has reached England. The British editor conceives that under it Bonaparte cannot afford the least aid to his retreating forces in Spain. No messenger has arrived in England to invite that country to a suspension of hostilities, or to send envoys to a Congress.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

Baltimore, Aug. 7, 1813.

From the information received, it appears that the enemy have taken possession of Kent Island and that the inhabitants of every description have removed to the mainland.

LATER!

The enemy landed about 300 men with 3 field pieces on Kent Island yesterday afternoon, have stopped the ferry from the Island to the main, and appear to be taking possession of the Island. The women, children and negroes were removed to the main before the landing.

SPORTS

Good news for the baseball fans of Alexandria has been furnished the writer of this "Sports" story by Manager Edward Allen, of the Dreadnaughts, and Manager Ulysses S. Savage, of the "Three A. A. A." baseball teams. It is a joke, but a real fact, that the above named baseball teams have agreed to play a series—the first game will be played on the Dreadnaughts diamond near the Union Station, Sunday, August 14, 1921. The game will be called at 3 o'clock p. m., sharp.

There has been much rivalry betwen the players of both teams. Each has claimed to be superior to the other—but they have never been able to settle their differences on the baseball field

The time has arrived for the great Alexandria World Series Baseball series. "Go to 'em Dreadnaughts" "Sic'em Triple A's." Make the dust fly boys, the fans are ready to swallow the dust if you promise them a battle royal next Sunday. Everybody will be there on time. The fans who do not start early are sure to be disappointed in securing seats. Be jolly fans, root for your favorites as loud as you please and the louder the merrier.

These teams mean strictly business and they will go on the playing field to win.

Both can not win the game, but there will be something doing until the last man is out and the contest ended.

Manager Savage will have many excellent men from which to select his line up, viz: "Babe" Anderson, George Anderson, "Wopp" Anderson, Conroy, Walters, Sims, Herron, Peverell, Flynn, Snyder, Quayle, Moore, "Beau" Hodges, White and Savage. Among the above named baseball players are seven lads who fought gallantly overseas during the Great World War and who have been decorated on the battlefields—and some carry scars, too, as proof of their valorous deeds.

Manager Allen will use the following all star line up, and it is as powerful as the name of the team which they represent, vig: Summers, first base; Devers, second base; McMahon, third base; Williams, shortstop; Ludlow, right field; Giles, center field; Alexander, left field; Frye, pitcher, and Stevens, catcher.

Remember the day and date,—Sunday, August 14, 1921.

The Trinagle Sport Club held an interesting meeting at the home of Robert Whitton, 209 South Patrick street The meeting was called to order by Whitton, who took the place of our president, Mr. Roadhouse, who is at Waterloo, Va., recovering from a bad case of typhoid fever. First there was a talk by Dick Woolford and one by Horace Howard. During the meeting "Kid" Sullivan was signed up to play football as was Bullock

After the meeting watermelon was served by Mrs. Whitton.

After all the watermelon was disposed of a watermelon battle from which Dick Woolford, Bell Petitt and Ray Blunt came out injured. After that the meeting adjourned and was in all a very successful meeting.

The Tiger Jr's won a game Monday from the Griff Midgets of Washington, by the score of 9 to 0. The Jr's played these boys on the Washington park last month. The line up was: Cronin, pitcher; Cline, catcher; V. Kidwell, 1st base; Hewitt, 2nd base; B. Kator, shortstop; R. Kidwell, rd base; Struder, right field; L. Shinigal, center field; C. Kator, left field.

The Trinagle A. C., are very desirous of playing a three game series with the Trinagle Sport Club. As the Trinagle Sport Club claims the Alexandria championship, we are especially anxious to play them They cannot rightly be the champions until they have fairly and squarely defeated us, a team that is in their class.

Chas. Caton, Acting Manager.

Camp Humphreys Notes

Col. Charles Kellar, C. E., a member of the Board of Engineers for Washington, D. C., addressed the audience at the Liberty Theater Sunday evening, August 7th. He gave a very interesting description of the adjournment of the Canadian parliament. The 13th Engineer Band under the leadership of Mr. Richard W. Treichel gave a concert consisting of:

1—Overture, Sicilian Vespers, Verdi.
2.—Waltz, Vienna Beauties, Ziehrer.
3.—Morceau, Golden Blende, Eilenberg.

The program also included community singing and motion pictures.

Captain Samuel D. Sturgis, Jr., C. E., has returned from 14 days' leave spent in Northern Wisconsin hunting and fishing and visiting relatives.

First Lieutenant Mark M. Boatner, C. E., will relieve Capt. C. L. Adcock on August 15th as Recreation Officer, in charge of the Camp Library, the Service Club and the Liberty Theater. He will also be the Camp Prison Officer, Post Exchange Officer, as well as having charge of Ordinance and Chemical Warfare stores. Captain Adcock will be on duty with the Thirteenth Engineers.

Allies Reach Agreement

a resolution adopted in the morning They are still at work upon it today and may not be ready to report until late tomorrow.

With rapid progress made on the all important Silesian question, the conference was able to take up other business on the program, beginning with the Turco-Greek situation. Mr. Lloyd George said he would put to the Council two questions:

First—Whether the time had arrived for the Allies to offer to arbitrate. Second—To what extent were the Allies bound to be neutral, and where should the line be drawn on the matter of supplying the combatants with fighting materials.

These questions are to be taken under advisement at a later session, when the Russian problem also will be discussed.

The American Ambassador, Mr. Harvey, showed much interest in Mr. Lloyd George's questions, particularly the second, which involved the trading rights of neutrals. Maj Gen. Henry T. Allen, with the consent of both the State and War Departments, came from Coblenz at the request of the Ambassador, so that he might be on hand to supply him with information when military questions were discussed, including penalties and the subject of Upper Silesia.

General Allen is a member of the Rhineland High Commission under the State Department and commander of the American forces of occupation under the War Department, and is regarded as exceptionally well informed about Upper Silesia through American intelligence officers of high rank who were in Upper Silesia at the time of the uprising and who have submitted full reports to him.

BACKACHE IS A WARNING

Alexandria People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Read Alexandria testimony.

Mrs. N. Bostwick, 21 Rosemont Ave., says: "I have had experience with Doan's Kidney Pills and have received excellent results. My back caused me no end of misery especially when I was on my feet very much. My head ached frequently, too. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me good relief and soon made a cure that has lasted for years."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bostwick had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

WAS THE TALK OF ALL HIS FRIENDS

Richmond Citizen Restored Five Years Ago by Tanlac Still Feels Splendid

"It was five years ago that Tanlac set me right and, although I am now past seventy-six years of age, I have been in the best of health to this good day," was the remarkable statement made by J. H. Seay, 204 North Mulberry St., Richmond, Va., a retired farmer.

"Dyspepsia was my main trouble, "he went on, "and it had such a tight hold on me I never expected to get over it. Nothing seemed to agree with me. Why, even the lightest kind of diets, like soup and broth, sometimes turned against me. The gas on my stomach nearly cut my breath off at times, and I had pains that were just about all I could stand.

"Rheumatism in my feet hurt me every step I took, and some nights my feet burned like they were on fire and I couldn't sleep a wink. My nerves were all on edge and I had spells of dizziness so often that I was uneasy for fear I would fall. I was trembly and shaky, and so weak and all rundown that things looked pretty gloomy for me.

"I took a notion somehow that Tanlac might fit my case, and there was a change for the better on my very first bottle. I took eight bottles in all and they simply made a clean sweep of all my troubles. Why, at the time it was the talk of all who knew me. I picked up eleven pounds in weight and ever since I have enjoyed fine health.

"I eat whatever I want, sleep sound and just feel good all the time. I make it a rule to take a little Tanlac right before the change of seasons, and it keeps me fit."

Tanlac is sold in Alexandria by Edgar Warfield, Jr., and all leading druggists.

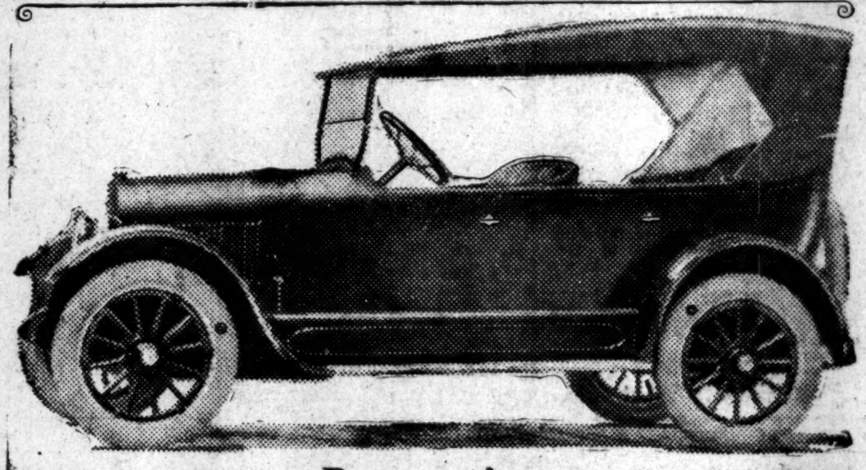
BUICK



Presenting
The New Buick Four

The new Buick Four is a distinctively Buick creation in every feature of design and construction. It embodies those principles of construction that have characterized Buick automobiles for more than twenty years.

The engine is of the famed Buick Valve-in-Head type. The bore is 3⅜"—the stroke, 4¾". Wheel base, 109", turning radius, 36'.

A Marvel carburetor with the new automatic heat control insures proper vaporization of the common low grade of commercial gasoline.

Multiple disc clutch, the transmission and universal joint are of standard Buick construction—the universal joint being lubricated from the transmission.

The rear axle is the three-quarter floating type, with semi-elliptical type springs front and rear. The frame is a deep channel section, strongly re-inforced with four cross members.

High pressure Alemite system provides lubrication. Delco equipment with Exide battery insures efficient starting, lighting and ignition.

All models have non-glare headlight lenses—all are complete with tire carrier and extra rim. Closed models are equipped with adjustable windshield visors, windshield cleaner, dome light, ventilating windshield, adjustable windows, and sun shade in rear window.

An American Doughboy in France

By ELLIOTT F. HOFFMAN

(Historian of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion.)

(For the Alexandria Gazette.)

The Battle of St. Mihiel

After two days' fighting we had gained our objective and immediately prepared to fortify our position for the impending counter attack of the enemy. We "dug in" about a quarter of a mile frm the enemy trenches in a wood facing an open field. This space between our trenches and the enemy's is familiarly known as No Man's Land.

One-half of the company was assigned the task of digging trenches between the hours of one and four each morning, and a small number of men served as "gas guard." These were to be on the alert to warn us when gas attacks, which were invariable at night, were imminent. A small klaxon was nailed to a tree near the line of dugouts where the guard stood ready to give the signal at the first sound of the attack. It was not difficult for the guard to distinguish these gas shells from the bursting shrapnel, as the gas shells burst with a sound similar to that made by the bursting of a toy balloon, while the shrapnel can be heard for miles.

A small detail of men were selected to patrol No Man's Land during the night. Tired, hungry, and dirty, the "cooties" doing a Marathon around our collars, which they used as a private race track, we strolled up and down that open space with a prayer upon our lips that the high explosive shells going over from both lines would not get "lazy" on their journey. And in this state of misery to often see a thousand "square heads" with fixed bayonets charging across that desolate field after "just one," a lone doughboy, made each feel that he was passing through life's darkest moment.

All day long from six in the morning until five in the afternoon we had nothing to do but lie there in our holes in the ground and listen to the "sweet" music, furnished by the high explosives, float melodiously over our heads. As the shells burst nearer and nearer, we dug our holes deeper, deeper, until we began to wonder how much farther down the Devilu lived. Though had we been able to plumb his depth, we would have found a "not in" sign, for in those days the Devil was abroad in the land with his pitchfork, fire and brimstone, and all his other instruments of torture.

Twice a day our mess cart was drawn up from the rear by Rainbow, our fearless mule, always bringing the same menu—cold beans, cold coffee, "goldfish," and one slice of bread for each man. Our craving for something sweet was satisfied one afternoon when some faithful Salvation Army workers brought us chocolate. We received only a very small piece because of the vast number to be supplied with the coveted sweet. They told us of the rousing welcome that awaited us back of the lines when we were relieved. The doughnuts, hot chocolate, cookies, and flapjacks! Oh, boy! What an inspiration that was to live that battle through! Those wonderful Salvation Army men and women! Can any doughboy ever forget their faithfulness? Following us into rain-soaked trenches, as they did that night of the opening attack, ministering to our comfort during the battle and awaiting us at the rear when the battle was over—they were indeed true "soldiers."

Our intelligence department learned of an impending raid to be made by some shock troops of "square heads." And preparations were made to meet it by selecting the best men of each company to form an arm of resistance. It was a beautiful September afternoon when the enemy came over the top toward our position, and, with bayonets fixed, charged furiously over that field behind a machine gun barrage. Our light artillery mowed them down like wheat, while the infantry mopped up the rest. Not a German got as far as our first line of resistance, and yet our losses were comparatively small.

There were often individual tragedies in these encounters. In this particular charge one poor fellow, who just prior to the raid had received a letter from home telling of the death of a member of his family, went over with tears in his eyes. He never came back. His nerves shattered, his power of resistance was gone.

At 2 a. m. on September 27 we moved out of our position ,which was then taken over by the 165th Infantry of New York. Three hours' hiking brought us to the rear, where the reception the Salvation Army had told us of became a reality. The Red Cross served hot chocolate, cookies, peanut bars; the women of the Salvation Army cooked us flapjacks and gave us doughnuts; while the Y. M. C. A. sold chocolate at only a nominal charge. But unfortunately, not many of us had any money. Pay day very seldom came over there and it didn't make much difference, any way; for by the time all deductions were made we didn't have enough left to buy a dress for a humming bird.

The first Sunday we spent back of the lines, an Alexandria boy for a Sunday School class, which met in the woods. Perched in trees and seated on the ground, we heard him tell in eloquent language of the teachings of the great divine Commandant. But those were not auspicious time for the quiet of worship; the physical discomforts were too great. Perhaps the faithful performance of duty was taken for the outward worship we seemed unable to give.

After a few days' rest we started on our six days' hiking to relieve the First Division then battling its way in the Argonne Forest.

AMERICAN LEGION CONVENTION

Slight changes have been made in the program for the third annual convention of the Virginia department of the American Legion which will be held in Norfolk on September 1, 2 and 3, and which is expected to be one of the greatest gatherings of former service men in Virginia or neighboring states this year .

On the second day of the convention, which previously had been left open strictly for business, there will be a big ball and firework display in the evening, and in addition a delegation has gone to Washington to invite President Harding, Secretary of Navy Denby, and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Assistant Secretary of Navy, who was one of the organizers of the American Legion in France.

With these men speaking on the evening of the second day, those in charge of the convention plan to make it a big patriotic and civic celebration which will be held in the open air. Instead of going to Virginia Beach on the third and closing day of the meeting, the delegations will be entertained at Ocean View, which is believed to be the best seaside resort for the occasion.

Elaborate preparations are now in progress in Norfolk for the convention, and arrangements have been worked out by the mrchants and others of that city for decorating the principal streets. Delegates from every section of the state will be present, and for the first time, individual members of the Legion are being urged by the department officers to be present this year and participate in the deliverations of the convention.

The Hotel Committee in charge at Norfolk lays stress on the necessity of making reservations at the Monticello Hotel as soon as possible, since it is desired to house all the delegates and guests under the same roof that the business sessions will be held.

RESOLUTIONS ON GOOD ROADS BOND ISSUE.

Presented by
H. D. Moffett, of Richmond.

Whereas, there is a movement on foot to have the State borrow the sum of fifty million dollars for the purpose of building roads, and

Whereas, the present revenue for that purpose appears to be ample for the present needs of the State in this respect, being sufficient to construct the entire proposed highway system within the next ten years without the necessity of borrowing a single dollar, and

Whereas, such a debt would mean an interest charge of from forty to ninety million dollars in addition to the principle, and

Whereas, the country is at this time in the midst of the greatest industrial depression in its history, thousands of men and women being out of employment in our State, and business houses going into bankruptcy daily, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Executive Board of the Virginia Federation of Labor, that while the Virginia Federation of Labor is heartily in favor of the construction of a great system of highways in the State, and have so signified in its actions on many occasions in the past, yet we are opposed to the State going unnecessarily in debt for this purpose. We, therefore declare our opposition to the proposal to issue fifty million dollars in bonds, and hereby instruct the Legislative Committee to use its best influences against any such proposal.

Resolved, that copies of this preamble and resolution be sent to every affiliated local in the State and copies be given to the press for publication.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

The great value of an accurate knowledge of present business conditions is the fixing of a standard for measuring future action. All business is carried on in anticipation of demand, Accurate knowledge of the present contributes to the quality of the anticipatory decision whose influence is felt throughout the entire complex business structure.

In estimating business conditions crops are of first importance. Farmers are the great consumers as well as the greatest producers. Their condition affects industry and transportation, and, of course, capital and labor. The country looks to crop conditions for a first sign of business revival.

Crop conditions are now good enough to warrant an anticipation of reasonable business activity. Other factors influencing the degree of this activity are conditions in foreign lands and government policies at home. Indefinite government policies increase uncertainty. Transportation taxation, tariff, and fear of more and different interference by government, have all had an adverse influence on business, according to the hundreds of business men who contributed the material for this review. They are all vigorous in expressing the belief that "less government in business" would be more helpful than anything else.

Transportation is the problem of greatest moment in the minds of the contributors. The railroads are efficient—but business is slack. Freight rates are much too high in comparison with commodity prices and have hardly shown signs of yielding to downward tendency. A cement manufacturer illustrates by showing that the price of cement is 56 per cent higher than in 1913 and the cost of transporting it has advanced 113 per cent.

"It is not the single freight rate but the cumulative effect that creates the damage," says a manufacturer of farm machinery, who illustrates by showing that a steel mill must buy and transport six tons of raw material to produce one tone of finished product. The farm implement maker must buy and transport three tons of raw material t oget one ton of finished product. The cumulative freight rate is that on 18 tons of raw material before one ton of finished product can be shipped to the farmer. The increases in freight, over 1914, on a gang plow that sold the for $70 between Chicago and Missouri river points, is $18.75. The increase—not the entire freight—on the farmer's corn with which he may pay for the plow, between the same points, is $10. The total increase is 40 per cent of the 1914 selling price.

This condition, it is argued, makes the price of labor in steel mill or implement factory, of little moment but railroad men's wages are of great importance. The writer concludes: "I would rather have the Government undo the laws that have brought these conditions, than to try to do something else to herp business."

THINK RIGHT, LIVE LONG, SAY SPIRITS

They Tell Stilwell, World's Greatest Living Railroad Builder "How to Grow Young"

That spirits have told him how to prolong life far beyond the century mark and that his chief work is to spread this knowledge, are the statements of Arthur E. Stilwell, world's greatest living railroad builder. No is this the only message that the spirits have given to him.

miles of railroads and over 40 towns

Mr. Stilwell is the builder of 2,500 and cities in the United States. The plans for all these developments, he is convinced, came to him direct from the spirit world. He built the famous harbor and ship canal of Port Arthur Texas, as a terminal for the Kansas City and Southern Railroad after h spirit advisors had warned him th Galveston, the proposed terminal would be destroyed by a tidal wave.

But the famous railroad builder considers his message on the prolonging of life to be of greater value to humanity than all his industrial achievements. "It is only necessary to consider some of the great leaders in biblical history to understand that the art of living long is a lost art says Mr. Stilwell. "Moses was 120 years old when he died. His eyes were not dimmed nor had his materia forces abated. The years of Isaac were 180. Rehoboam was 140 when he began to reign and reigned for 17 years." The chief reason that modern man doe s not reach the age the Patriarchs according to Mr. Stilwell is that he believes three score years and ten to be the allotted span of life. "This belief has done more to shorten life than all the wars an plagues the world has ever experienced, and when this mesmeric thoug is broken by a few, as it will be, life will at once lengthen, for the mortal body will renew itself as long as it lasts. To regain the lost art of livin you must accept Christ's statement that death is an enemy and. enemy, you have a perfect right to combat it."

FOREST INCENDIARY CAUGHT BY AID OF TELESCOPE

(U. S. Dept. of Agriculture)

In July, 1921, Alonzo E. Dole, a professional land locator operating in the Siuslaw country for years was convicted i nthe United States District Court at Portland, Oreg., on the charge of wilfully setting forest fires on the Siuslaw National Forest. He was sentenced to four months in the Multnomah County jail, and his application for a new trial was denied.

Dole had long been suspected by officers of the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture of wilfully setting fire on the Siuslaw National Forest, but owing to the sparse settlement of the great forest area and consequent lack of witnesses, and the further fact that by long practice he had mastered the trick of flipping a burning match in the brush along a road or trail, even on horseback ,efforts to obtain evidence against him were long unsuccessful.

The circumstances in connection with Dole's arrest and conviction were somewhat unusual. As shown by the evidence, one of the witnesses was trying out a new telescope by watching occasional passers-by on a road few hundred yards away. While so doing, he saw Dole, who was riding by on horseback, strike matches and flip them, while burning, into the dry ferns and brush along the roadside, thus starting fires.

Prospectors Unearth Petrified Giant Seeking a Vein of Coal.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 10.—News has just reached here of a most remarkable find near the little town of Helenwood, in Scott County. A man, or a woman, or an image, idol or petrified Indian chieftain, has been unearthed about three miles east of Helenwood by prospectors looking for coal. The Keene-Strunk Coal company had men working in an old cave looking for a vein of coal, and while so engaged they found buried in the earth and petrified a giant some 6 feet 4 inches tall.

It had imbedded in its one-time flesh about its neck a beautiful chain, which appeared to have been tied in front. Its eyes were about half closed. Its fingers were perfect in every respect, with long, tapering nails. Its hands were folded across its breast. On either side of its head were two horns, each about four inches in length. Its weight was about 450 pounds.

The miners removed it from the earth and carried it to Helenwood where it was cleaned up and placed on exhibition. It is there now, and is being visited by thousands of people. The owners of this remarkable find were not long in sensing the commercial possibilities of the thing and are charging 25 cents each for look at it. It is said that they have realized more than $500 on it during Sunday alone.

Penn. Officials Discuss Shopmen's Controversy.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—No official announcement was made tonight by the Pennsylvania Railroad as to what it intends to do with regard to the decision of the United States Railroad Labor Board directing the road and its shopmen to hold a new election of committees to negotiate working agreements. The time fized for the representatives of the two sides to meet to arrange the details for the new election expires tomorrow.

The operating staff of the company, headed by General W. W. Atterbury, vice-president in charge of operations, met in the forenoon and discussed the situation. This was followed by a special meeting of the board of directors in the afternoon, which lasted more than two hours. Later the operating staff again met, it was learned that a final decision was reached, and it was intimated a statement would be given out tomorrow defining the company's position.

ENGLISH ONLY LANGUAGE.

Lincoln, Neb., August —Twelve prominent lawyers of Nebraska have been selected by the Nebraska department of the American Legion to represent that organization in the coming legal battle with the German Evangelical Lutheran synod of Missouri, which has filed suit to annul the Reed-Norval language law. The purpose of the law is to make English the basic language of all schools, including public, private and parochial. Its passage was sought by the American Legion.

The lawyers who are to direct the defense of the language law are members of the American Legion. They held a conference recently at Omaha when they decided to make formal appearance in the case which will be argued in the district court of Platte county. It will be the first time in the history of the state that twelve lawyers appear on one side in a legal controversy in the district court.

The petition filed by the Legion lawyers states that the Nebraska Department of the Legion has a membership of 20,000 honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines who served their country in the late war. The synod claims a membership in Missouri of 26,000.

The organist at Gloucester Cathedral declares that the present vogue of wearing hair over the ears is responsible for a lot of poor singing. His opinion is open to criticism, but it is generally admitted that it would be better if some singers wore the hair over their mouths instead.—Eve (London).

WOMEN CONTINUALLY OVERDO

This applies to all women, regardless of caste or color. The ambitious girl striving for school honors, the overworked housewife, the shop girl, girls in offices and stores, and the society woman, all climb too high, overtax their strength and what follows? Nervous prostration, sleeplessness, backache, headaches, and the inevitable weakness and ailments peculiar to their sex soon develop, which unless checked bring on more serious conditions, and which often lead to operations. An efficient restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is now recognized from coast to coast as a standard remedy for woman's ills.
